Keynote: Kim Zember

Speaker, Author, Missionary. Host of “here I AM stories,” a new podcast highlighting raw voices, radical lives, and real stories of those who left LGBT identities for a greater eternal purpose.

Very Rev. John Johnson

Father Johnson is currently the pastor of St. Joseph Catholic Church in Macon and serves as the Vicar Forane for the Macon Deanery. Ordained in Savannah, he pursued further studies at the Pontifical John Paul II Institute, focusing on modern technology and bioethics. With a rich history of serving various parishes and a significant dedication to college students and young adults, his priesthood has been the joy of his life. He is the current chaplain for Courage in the Diocese of Savannah.

Sam Kerlin

Sam Kerlin currently works as a public accountant in Atlanta and is the leader of the Courage Apostolate in Macon, Georgia. He is a convert to Catholicism and has grappled with the intersection of faith and sexuality, including his previous involvement in the gay lifestyle and advocacy for marriage redefinition initiatives.

Rev. Mark White

Fr. Mark White, chaplain of Courage and Encourage in the Archdiocese of Atlanta, will offer Mass for conference participants.
